- 11) Abandoned Animals: I agree that I will not neglect to pick up my pet by the time he/she is scheduled to leave without providing notification. Any pet that is left at Beautiful Pets without any contact, instruction, notification from me, of the ability, willingness or plans to pick him/her up by myself or my personal representative or agent, will be considered abandoned upon the fourteenth (14th) day of such notification failure. I understand that if I abandon my pet at Beautiful Pets, Beautiful Pets will, by default, become the legal owner and guardian of the pet. Beautiful Pets will, in it's sole discretion, determine whether to try to rehome and adopt the pet from Beautiful Pets location at which he/she was abandoned or relinquish the pet to an unrelated shelter of its choice. I FULLY UNDERSTAND AND AGREE THAT IF I ABANDON MY PET AT BEAUTIFUL PETS, I MAY BE UNABLE TO RETRIEVE POSSESSION OF MY PET AND WILL HAVE NO RECOURSE AGAINST BEAUTIFUL PETS.
- 12) According to the ASPCA, "When bloat occurs, the dog's stomach fills with air, fluid and/or food. The enlarged stomach puts pressure on other organs, can cause difficulty breathing, and eventually may decrease blood supply to a dog's vital organs. People often use the word "bloat" to refer to a life-threatening condition that requires immediate veterinary care known as gastric dilatation-volvulus (GDV), gastric torsion and twisted stomach. This condition can cause rapid clinical signs and death in several hours. Even with immediate treatment, approximately 25% to 40% of dogs die from this medical emergency. The exact cause is currently unknown. Certain risk factors include: rapid eating, eating one large meal daily, dry food -only diet, over- eating, overdrinking, heavy exercise after eating, fearful temperament, stress, trauma and abnormal gastric motility or hormone secretion. Bring your dog to a veterinarian immediately. Timeliness of treatment is paramount, since a dog exhibiting signs of bloat may actually have GDV, which is fatal if not promptly treated. Depending on your dog's condition, a veterinarian may take an X-ray of the abdomen to assess the stomach's position. The vet may try to decompress the stomach and relieve gas and fluid pressure by inserting a tube down the esophagus. If the stomach has rotated, emergency surgery is necessary to correct torsion. There are many complications that can occur both during and after surgery, including heart damage, infection and shock; intensive post-operative monitoring for several days is routine. Most vets will recommend that during this surgery, the dog's stomach be permanently attached to the side of the abdominal cavity in order to prevent future episodes. Most dogs love to overeat if given the opportunity, so any dog, from a Greyhound to a Chihuahua, can get bloat. However, it is very rare for dogs that are not large, deep-chested breeds to be struck with GDV. This condition most often afflicts those dogs whose chests present a higher depth-to-width ratio. In other words, their chests are long (from backbone to sternum) rather than wide. Such breeds include Saint-Bernards, Akitas, Irish Setters, Boxers, Basset Hounds, Great Danes, Weimaraners and German Shepherds." I understand that this is a risk inherent to owning a dog. Beautiful Pets will make every effort to get your dog veterinary attention as soon as possible at the owner's expense.
- 13) Infectious Canine Tracheobronchitis: According to the ASPCA, "Kennel cough is a term loosely used to describe a complex of respiratory infections—that viral and bacterial—that causes inflammation of a dog's voice box and windpipe. It's a form of bronchitis and is similar to a chest cold in humans. Symptoms of Kennel Cough: A persistent dry cough with a "honking" sound, Gagging, Coughing up white foamy phlegm, Fever, Nasal discharge. In most cases, they'll appear healthy except for the cough. Dogs can catch kennel cough in several ways: Kennel cough can spread through aerosols in the air, directly from dog to dog, or through germs on contaminated objects. Kennel cough can also spread through direct contact like shared water dishes or even greeting another dog. See your veterinarian if your dog develops a cough. In some cases, you may be advised to simply let kennel cough run its course and heed the following: Dogs with kennel cough should be isolated from other dogs. A cough suppressant or antimicrobial may be prescribed. In most cases, the signs of kennel cough gradually decrease and disappear after three weeks. Young puppies, elderly dogs and other immunocompromised animals may take up to six weeks or more to recover. Animals may remain infectious for long periods of time even after the symptoms have cleared up. Serious cases of kennel cough can lead to pneumonia if left untreated." I understand that canine cough is unpreventable and there are over one hundred strains which are all an airborne virus and Beautiful Pets is not responsible. If my pet shows symptoms of canine cough, Beautiful Pets will make every effort to get your dog veterinary attention as soon as possible at the owner's expense. I also authorize Beautiful Pets at Beautiful Pets sole discretion, to take any steps necessary to isolate my pet to avoid further exposure to other pets in the facility.
- 14) WAIVER, RELEASE AND INDEMNIFICATION: I HEREBY AGREE TO EXPRESSLY AND FOREVER GENERALLY WAIVE, DISCHARGE CLAIMS, INDEMNIFY, RELEASE FROM LIABILITY, SAVE, HOLD HARMLESS AND DEFEND BEAUTIFUL PETS, their invitees, sponsors, advertisers, owners, officers, directors, employees, volunteers, agents, representatives, lessors, and all others having an interest in BEAUTIFUL PETS ("the Releasee's") from and against ANY AND ALL INJURY, LIABILITY, CLAIMS, LITIGATION, ACTIONS, SUITS, COSTS, LOSSES, DAMAGES, ATTORNEY'S FEES, EXPENSES OR DEMANDS OF EVERY CHARACTER WHATSOEVER on account of, arising out of, resulting from or relating in any way to (1) any act or omission of the Releasees, including negligence, and (2) my or my pet's participation at BEAUTIFUL PETS or otherwise.
